

Senior Services That Help

Throughout history, civilizations, regardless of belief structure or religious affiliation, have understood the importance of caring for their elders. In this fast-paced, ever-changing world, it is comforting to know that some traditions have not changed.

Many seniors in your congregation, on a daily basis, face several challenges – loneliness, isolation, physical decline – and today's harsh economic climate may make facing them seem even more daunting. Wouldn't it be wonderful if your spiritual community could reach out and gather your elders into a loving circle of care?

Now they can.

What is Interfaith Care

God's Love
in Action

LifePoint Senior Resident Services' exclusive Interfaith Care & Life Enrichment Program is directed by a registered nurse who has been certified in community-based interfaith nursing and works within faith-based communities. This highly trained resource specialist helps you assess the needs of seniors within your community, then pulls together and coordinates the programs, services, and professionals best qualified for the job.

Each program is highly individual, tailored to a community's specific needs, but there is a common thread: The Interfaith Nurse, who will work in tandem with spiritual organizations to provide services that are high-tech and high-touch, treating the whole person;

Body, Mind, and Spirit.

Interfaith Care & Life Enrichment

The Interfaith Care Program for Life Enrichment offers health screenings and educational seminars that are held onsite, in your spiritual center. Your Interfaith Nurse can design and coordinate helpful social service programs that promote seniors' well-being. Also, we provide access to in-home physician and personal care services, behavioral healthcare, and personal care and lifestyle management services for those who just need a little extra help to remain in their homes.

Interfaith Care - Onsite, at your Spiritual Center

A convenient, safe way to receive care, our onsite services reduce the need for seniors to travel site-to-site between healthcare providers, while offering important contact with others to help reinforce the sense of spiritual community.

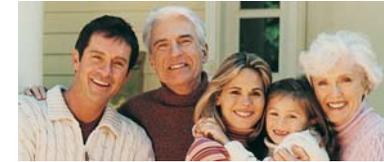

The LifePoint Advantage

Because the Interfaith Care Program is delivered in tandem with LifePoint Senior Resident Services, after identifying your needs, your Interfaith Nurse can draw upon the broadest and finest range of in-home health care and wellness services for your congregation's senior members.

Behavioral Healthcare

Behavioral Health services are designed to help seniors and their families better manage and cope with the effects that aging can have on their behavioral and cognitive states as well as interpersonal relationships. From in-home therapy to depression and anxiety management, LifePoint's programs can result in better health, greater independence, and longer and happier lives.

Integrated In-Home Care

When recommended by a physician, the Integrated In-home Physician and Personal Care Services can offer convenient access for seniors to the quality medical care they need. Delivered in the comfort and privacy of their own home, licensed, credentialed providers will insure the quality and integrity of the services provided.

Lifestyle Management

Non-medical personal care is available to those in need of temporary or long-term assistance. Everything from housekeeping to hygiene, from meal planning and delivery, to shopping and pet care can be arranged to help seniors live comfortably and safely at home.

Our Objective is Simple:
Life Enrichment

Medicare and/or private insurance may cover the costs associated with the medical and behavioral healthcare programs. Contact us for more details.
